

BANCROFT
LIBRARY

THE LIBRARY
OF
THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

THE BANCROFT LIBRARY BUILDING,
TWENTY-EIGHTH AND ARMY STREETS, SAN FRANCISCO.

The building figured here for many a year
In San Francisco sheltered mighty store
Of records telling of the valiant deeds
Done by the fathers there in days of yore.

The fire, that spared this building, gave the chance
To San Francisco sons to show that they
Were worthy of those sires, whose records now
Rest in a grander home this side the bay.

The courage gay that led both sires and sons
Before the embers quite had time to cool
To build new cities on a larger scale
Gave us fresh hope to start our Summer School.

To you, our guests, a welcome we extend ;
You come to teach us all the latest lore ;
Yet, wise men from the East, we teach you now
A lesson never so well taught before.

Here can you see a city that rebuilds
Its fortunes, dauntless of the blows of Fate
A city that, above its ruins, shows
The soul that lives beside the Golden Gate.

E

13

B23 B3

x

49034

SUMMER SESSION
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA
THE FACULTY CLUB

JULY 18, 1906

Menu

Crab Mayonnaise à la Maryland

Soup

Consommé à la Royale

Fish

Filet of Sole, Sauce Tartare

Entrée

Sweetbreads in cases à la Poulette

Remobe

Small Tenderloin of Beef Béarnaise

Potatoes à la Crème

Brussels Sprouts

Frozen Eggnog

Entremet

Roast Turkey, Cranberry Sauce

Fried Potatoes

Asparagus Mousseline

Cherry and Currant Tart      Whipped Cream

Tipsy Cake, English style

Stilton Cheese

Water Wafers

Assorted Fruit

English Walnuts

Coffee à la Russe

